W. Irvine Speaks To Citizens On C.C.F. Policies

Endeavors to Form a C.C.F. Local in Coleman and Other Past Towns; Attendance Small.

William Irvine, of Edmonton, the provincial C.C.F. organizer, started a speaking tour of the Pass on Monday evening with a meeting in the community hall. Other meetings were held during the week at Blairmore, Bellevue and Hillcrest.

Purpose of the tour is to acquaint the people with the C.C.F. policies and to organize C.C.F. groups in each community. On Monday evening a number in the audience took out membership in the C.C.F. at $1 each.

Mr. Irvine stated that the C.C.F. organization had actually been in existence only ten years and during that period a basis had been laid in every Canadian province. The last four by-elections, two federal and two provincial, had been won by the C.C.F.

The C.C.F. aimed at public ownership of public property and speaking on a national scale he mentioned oil, gold, coal, industries such as textiles, boot and shoe, farm machinery, etc. His party aimed at setting up a new economic objective that would meet the needs of all in each community.

He touched on the depression which saw millions starve while grain, fruit, fish were allowed to rot; many go homeless because they were unable to pay rent. He blamed all this on the profit motive which made things go or not go depending on the profit to be realized.

In 1939 he was in the gallery in the House of Commons when a government member rose and stated he had been unable to allot one war contract on the basis of 6 per cent profit. The speaker also ridiculed Arthur Meighen's widely publicized statements regarding higher profits to the industrialists. Said Mr. Irvine, "the people can not be free if the means by which they live are in the hands of private individuals."

Speaking on Russia, he ridiculed an article written by Beverley Baxter in Maclean's Magazine prior to Germany's attack on Russia, in which Baxter had stated Russia had nothing to fight for and that she was only expected to offer resistance for a few weeks to the Germans. Russia had dropped the profit system many years ago and had stood up to the supreme test, that of modern war. She had set up co-operatives and owned her public utilities.

Canada, said the speaker, would be a richer country following the war for the following reasons: 800,000 technicians had been trained in this war who would be added to the technicians Canada possessed before the war; her industry was more highly developed; her electrical power had increased; natural resources remained ample and her agriculture could take care of the nation's needs; foreign markets would be keen for Canadian products.

MALTA'S LONG-RANGE FIGHTERS ATTACK THE ENEMY'S MEDITERRANEAN AIR BASES

Malta-based R.A.F. aircraft are playing an important part in the Allied campaign to drive the Axis forces from the Mediterranean. While British First Army and U.S. troops successfully attacked the German forces in Tunisia, Malta's long-range fighters hit hard at Axis aerodromes.

Picture shows: An artist's authenticated impression of Malta-based R.A.F. "Beaufighters" attacking grounded enemy aircraft at El Aquino aerodrome. During this attack heavy damage was inflicted on planes, runways, buildings and ammunition dumps, and the enemy was thrown into great confusion.

Wm. Field First President Coleman Sports' Association; A. A. Fraser Elected Vice-President

Officers Elected; Constitution and By-Laws Being Drawn Up; Fees Being Decided.

A meeting of the newly organized sports' association was held on Sunday and much progress made by the committee.

Officers were elected as follows: W. Field, president; A. A. Fraser, vice-president; R. Spillers, secretary; J. Emmerson, treasurer. Executive: F. Abousafy, G. Ford, G. Jenkins, J. Ramsay, J. McNeill, J. Joyce, R. Bell and W. Gate.

The union delegates presented a report which contained the information that the union members were in favor of the sports' association and had assessed themselves 25c per month for association dues.

The merchants, at a meeting among themselves, had agreed to assess themselves a yearly fee of $6. Store-keepers were asked to pay 25c per month. The school teachers are having a meeting among themselves to discuss the question of fees to the association. The same holds true for the mine officials.

The official name chosen by the committee for the association is Coleman Community Sports' Association.

The officers and executive are busy this week drawing up the constitution and by-laws, which will be discussed at a meeting next Sunday for approval and adoption.

Questions And Answers On Sugar For Home Canning

April 15 will roll around very quickly and as every housewife knows that is the date on which her application for sugar for canning fruit this summer must be in the hands of her Local Ration Board.

Questions on the subject are numerous, and answers prepared by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in co-operation with the Dominion Department of Agriculture are as follows:

Q: How much sugar is allowed for canning?

A: One half pound of sugar for each quart sealer.

Q: How can I estimate the amount of sugar I require for canning?

A: Estimate the total number of quart sealers you plan to put up. Then allow 1/2 pound of sugar for each quart sealer. If you plan to can 20 quarts of fruit you will need 10 pounds of sugar.

Q: How can I tell exactly how much of each kind of fruit will be available?

A: That would be impossible. Don't try to decide the number of each kind of fruit you will put up. Base your estimates on the number of sealers you have on hand, on what you put up last year, on what you think you will require this year.

Q: I want to make some jam and jelly. How much sugar is allowed for these.

A: One and one-half (1 1/2) pounds of sugar for each quart of jam or jelly.

Q: I am planning to make up 8 quarts of jam and jelly. How much sugar will I require.

A: You are allowed 1 1/2 pounds of sugar for each quart, therefore you will require 12 pounds of sugar.

Q: Most of my jam and jelly jars are of various shapes. How can I estimate how many quarts they will hold?

A: Take the jars you usually use for jam or jelly and see how many cups of water they hold. Four cups make a quart. If they hold 20 cups of water, for example you will require sugar for five quarts or 7 1/2 pounds of sugar, in this instance.

Q: Is it true that I should can more fruit and make less jam and jelly?

A: Yes. The Department of Agriculture recommends canning fruit in preference to making jam or jelly because: 1. More fruit can be put up with less sugar at less cost. 2. Canned fruit retains more of the vitamin value of the fresh fruit.

Q: How shall I get my sugar for canning and jam and jelly making?

A: When your local ration board has reviewed your application you will be provided, sometime before June 1, with special canning sugar coupons which will entitle you to buy sugar, at any grocery store at specified intervals.

Councillor Abousafy Talks Flood Control With Cabinet Ministers

Councillor Frank Abousafy paid a business visit to Edmonton this week, where he went into conference with E. O. Duke, M.L.A. for this constituency, and two cabinet ministers. The conference dealt with flood control in Coleman, a problem that has been given much consideration by the council since the flood of last year. It is expected Councillor Abousafy will give a full report of the conference at next Monday's regular meeting of the council.

SEND PRESERVING SUGAR APPLICATION CARDS TO BLAIRMORE

Numerous enquiries have been made this week at Antrobus' office, the town office and The Journal office by local citizens desiring sugar for preserving purposes.

The proper course to follow is to fill out the application card for preserving sugar which is contained in the new ration books, mail it to the Rationing Board, care of Blairmore Town Office, Blairmore. Here it will be forwarded to Calgary for approval. Following approval by the Calgary authorities the necessary permission will then be sent from Calgary direct to the party desiring the sugar in Coleman.

ROBINS HAVE ARRIVED

The robins are once again in our midst heralding the arrival of spring. Now, if the weatherman would only take the hint and make the snow disappear all would be well.

Some McGillivray miners report having seen a robin over a week ago on the mine path. This week a robin was seen on Fourth street sitting dejectedly on a fence with snow all around it. It was anything but a spring scene.

Local Organizations Banquet Pee Wees

Elks, Lions, Legion And Pattinson's Hardware Represented; R. Spillers Chairman

Monday evening, under the organization of the local Elks' Lodge, the Lions' Club, the Legion and Bob Pattinson, their respective Pee-Wee teams were banqueted at the club rooms of the Grand Union.

This year the Pee-Wee league was quite keenly and closely contested under the watchful eye of Ray Spillers and the coaching of four juveniles, Slugg, Hudz, Jenkins and Rypien. The Lions' Club, under the coaching of Hudz, won the league schedule, but in the finals the Elks, under Jenkins, won from the Lions and were therefore presented with the cup which is competed for annually.

There was a good attendance of players and coaches. Ray Spillers was chairman. The Elks were represented by Wm. Gate, who was the sponsor of the cup for the Pee-Wee hockey, and Adam Wilson. The Lions were represented by Herb Hewitt and Joe Kirk. At the conclusion of a very delicious and sumptuous banquet, to which the pee-wees done justice, each representative, coach and captain was called upon to express a few words, which proved very interesting. In conclusion, Ray Spiller expressed his satisfaction with the brand of hockey played and the conduct of the players on the ice. He expressed the opinion that in a few more years we would have some very capable players for the more advanced leagues.

GROWN IN SUNNY, SOUTHERN ONTARIO

The Victory Loan

ON APRIL 26 Canada's fourth Victory Loan Campaign will commence. Each of the preceding campaigns has been greatly over-subscribed and there is no doubt that the Canadian people will gladly give their financial support to the winning of the war. It is likely that the coming months will see many critical events on land and sea and in the air. Thousands of our men are on active service, ready at all times to do whatever is required of them, no matter what personal sacrifice may be entailed. Everyone cannot be in the armed forces, but we can all do our utmost to make sure that those who are fighting will not be handicapped by lack of financial support for the war by the people at home.

Small Loans Are Important

The objective for this loan is $1,100,000,000, and individual subscribers have been asked to contribute $500,000,000 of this sum. This means that small investors must purchase about 33% more than they did in the last Victory Loan. For this reason, more than ever before, the average Canadian citizen is asked to make every effort to invest as heavily as possible in this loan, and there is no doubt but that the response to the appeal will be generous. We all want to win the war, and to bring it to an end as quickly as possible, and this is one way in which all Canadians at home can show their determination at this time.

Objective Is A Challenge

Speaking of the approaching campaign, Hon. J. L. Bisley, Minister of Finance, has said: "The fourth Victory Loan will be another challenge to the Canadian people the greatest financial challenge with which they have ever been faced. While the need for money is greater than ever before it is equally true that the bond buying power of the majority of Canadians is greater by far than at any previous time." It is true that the national income is now higher than it has been for many years, and in spite of the fact that taxes are high, there are few individuals who cannot contribute in measure to the winning of the war through the purchase of Victory loans. We are fortunate to live in a country where we are still asked to lend our savings. In Axis-dominated countries other means are taken to finance the war, and no financial sacrifice can be too great for us to make, when it helps to insure us the continuance of the system under which we now live.

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA

VITAL NUTRITIVE FOODS
War-time conditions call attention to certain types of food which have hitherto been greatly neglected despite their high nutritive content, but which now can readily substitute for foods which are hard to obtain. For example, in Canada, we throw away thousands of pounds of skim milk every year. A great deal of cheese is fed to hogs, but even this is waste, as nutritionists tell us, for the nutrients in skim milk, pound for pound, equal those of muscle meat, and 10 pounds of these nutrients is required to produce one pound of food nutrients in the form of meat. Other less costly foods can provide us with valuable vitamins in our bread, cakes and puddings. Buttermilk, too, is highly nutritious matching skim milk in its content of vitamins and minerals. It also can be dried and thus distributed more economically.

The most nutritious parts of beef and pork carcasses, strange to say, are seldom chosen by the customer and are wasted by being made into fertilizer or feed. The blood, lungs, stomach, liver, pancreas, kidney, brain and heart are spared by many people. Actually these organs are tremendously rich in the essential vitamins and minerals. The Navajo Indian of the United States, for example, who is contrast to many other Indian groups, has retained his vigor despite proximity to the white man's civilization, consumes all vestiges of the sheep or goat he kills and exhibits a decided preference for the entrails of the stomach. He eats the organs first.

Nutritionists point out that much could be done to improve the nutritive quality of processed meats by including in them organ meat and blood. It is an actual fact that the dog food manufactured by Canadian packers, containing much of what the dog degrades as refuse, is superior in nutritive value to most of the meat they market for human food.

By utilizing these unusual foods Canadians would not only discover exciting new dishes, but would be certain of obtaining the vitamins and minerals they need.

Rationing In Use By Indians Over Four Centuries Ago

Robert A. Wauchope, director of Tulane University's Middle American Research Institute, says the North American Indians were practicing rationing four centuries ago.

During a warring period, when armies of 60,000 to 125,000 men were on the move, an adequate supply of food, equipment and other provisions were accumulated in advance and then allocated to each of the fighting men, Wauchope said.

"Some tribes carried fighting rations with them in gourds which hung around the warrior's neck. The gourds were filled with hominy, to which they added water."

"When they ran short they exacted 'tribute.' Hitler style, from the land in which they were fighting. There still are picture records extant of the times before the conquest showing how much each tribe was made to contribute," Wauchope said.

Keeps People Informed

Red Cross Always Obtains News About Prisoners Of War

Every day almost since the first of the year, the newspapers have carried stories of air raids on enemy territory and invariably the story carries the ominous note "some of our aircraft are missing." If these are R.C.A.F. planes, it is reasonable to assume that some of the fliers have parachuted to comparative safety and have been interned as prisoners of war. Each time this happens the Red Cross through the International Red Cross in Switzerland, brings reassuring news to the loved ones telling he is safe, then proceeds to send him regularly the parcels and food which are the sole bright spots in his cooped-up existence.

BET SUGAR PRODUCTION

It is estimated that the 63,300 acres of sugar beet grown in Canada in 1942 produced 200 million pounds of refined sugar, or about one-fifth of Canada's normal consumption. The objective for 1943 is at present considered to be the greatest amount of beet sugar that can be produced with present plant facilities.

Famous For His Grin

Ivan Maisky, Soviet Ambassador To Britain, Always Has One Ready

L. S. B. Shapiro, London correspondent, says: British diplomats have always been noted for their capacity to conceal emotion under a mask of cold indifference, but none of them has been able to match the uniform grin which hides the emotions of Ivan Maisky, the Soviet Ambassador. A diplomatic correspondent recalled the other day a Lord Mayor's dinner in 1935. As each distinguished guest was announced, there was warm applause. When Ambassador Maisky's name was announced, there was a pregnant silence. Mr. Maisky's reaction was a grin. In early 1939, when Britain was feverishly trying to court Russian favor, Mr. Maisky was cheered everywhere he went. He greeted the ovations with the same grin. The Russo-German treaty of August, 1939, threw Mr. Maisky into disfavor. Again he was coldly received—but that same meaningless grin never left his face. One day in the Commons, Lady Astor had harsh things to say about Russia and she said them while waving her arms in the direction of Mr. Maisky's seat in the diplomatic gallery. The eyes of all were upon him. His only reaction was the grin. Today Mr. Maisky is a triumphant hero wherever he goes. At banquets and mass meetings, at military reviews and in the Commons, he hears glowing things said about him and his country. His reaction has not changed. It is still—the grin.

Thrive On New Diet

Dogs Can Get Along Very Well Without Much Meat

President Frank D. McKeeney of the San Diego Veterinary Medical Association, urges owners of dogs not to part with their pets for fear meat and other rationing will deprive them of the super-refined diets to which they become accustomed. He says the dogs will thrive better on a diet of one-third cooked cereal, one-third dried fruits and vegetables, and one-third raw meat scraps, than on porter-house steaks, lamb chops and other edibles which they are now being fed.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

DESIRES

Our nature is inseparable from desires, and the very word desire—the craving for something not possessed—implies that our present felicity is not complete.—Thomas Hobbes.

There is nothing capricious in nature; and the implanting of a desire indicates that its gratification is in the constitution of the creature that feels it.—Emerson.

A wise man will desire no more than he may get justly, use soberly, distribute cheerfully, and leave contentedly.—Richard E. Burton.

Happiness consists in the attainment of our desires, and in having only right desires.—Augustine.

Desire is prayer; and no loss can occur from trusting God with our desires, that they may be moulded and sealed before they take form in words and in deeds.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Therefore I [Jesus] say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive, and ye shall have them.—Mark 11:24.

On Active Service

Patrol Planes On West Coast To Use Carrier Pigeons

Carrier pigeons are soon going on active service in British Columbia. Aircraft hunting enemy subs off Canada's east coast carry their quota of birds. Before long pigeons will travel with patrol planes of the western air command with bases from Victoria to Alaska.

In a loft at a west coast air station are several hundred homing birds. R.C.A.F. recruits are learning to care for them. Flt. Sgt. A. Moore, head man at the western pigeon loft started training pigeons in England over 30 years ago. "The best birds aren't the prize winners," he explained. "We don't want speed, we want to be sure when a bird set out for home it's going to get there."

How To Conserve Heat

From Dusk To Daylight Keep Window Shades Pulled Down

The fickle days of spring are close upon you. The weeks when the weather blows warm one day and cold the next. It is a period when women in homes can do much to save fuel and thus to help relieve the great burden on transportation. Be careful of heat, the government warns, and see that open doors and windows do not waste fuel. Keep your eye on the furnace and don't have big fires needlessly. Help to keep the house comfortable by pulling down the window shades from dusk to daylight. Believe it or not, your house is 10 per cent warmer that way, and this 10 per cent is enough to make the difference between comfort and shivers on cold spring nights.

UNITED STATES NAVY NOW HAS AUXILIARY AIRCRAFT CARRIERS IN COMBAT AREAS

Washington.—The United States navy disclosed that the first of a fleet of auxiliary aircraft carriers are in combat areas and scores of others are building in shipyards on both the Atlantic and Pacific coast.

The primary function of the auxiliary carriers at this time is to help smash the German U-boat offensive in the Atlantic, but they are by no means limited to furnishing convoy protection, having uses also as ferrying craft and in fleet operations. The greatest need for them, however, is in the North Atlantic and indications were that is where the bulk of the force will be disposed.

The report on the new program was made public at a press conference by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

Converted from merchant-type vessels or built keel-up as auxiliaries, these carriers have a force of aircraft adequate to patrol vast reaches of the ocean in convoy duty and, the navy secretary said, provide a "triple menace" to the enemy's undersea, surface and air raiders.

Vice-Admiral Frederick J. Horne, vice-chief of naval operations, joined Knox at a press conference to tell of the auxiliary aircraft program as "coming along very rapidly."

Horne reported that the auxiliary carriers have "been very successful, but the nature of a carrier of this type without high speed" has limitations due to weather.

Some have already been in combat, he said, and have been in "all of the seven seas."

The auxiliary carriers "can and have served to transport military airplanes," the navy disclosed. "They can carry fuelled-up planes to within flying range of combat areas and catapult them into the air for immediate service in fighting the Axis from the skies. A substantial number of planes now operating in North Africa were taken across the Atlantic by these vessels."

PEOPLE WARNED

Australians Told By Prime Minister

Rationing May Be Stricter
Canberra.—Prime Minister Curtin warned Australians that food rationing on a wider scale than hitherto thought necessary may have to be faced. He mentioned such commodities as meat, milk, vegetables, fruit, canned goods, jam, rice, dried fruits and fish.

Mr. Curtin said it was obvious there had been a great waste of food in Australia. Some reasons for the current shortage, he said, were increased demand because of additional public spending power, supply department demands for the armed services, shortages of manpower and transport difficulties which were inevitable due to adverse seasonal conditions.

PRAIRIE DEBT PROBLEM

Ottawa.—The departments of finance and justice are in consultation over the western debt adjustment problem. Following recent submissions by the prairie provinces, asking federal action to set up debt adjustment facilities, the departments concerned have been considering remedies to meet the situation.

RUSSIA EXTENDING JAPANESE FISHING PRIVILEGES BUT WILL CHARGE THEM A HIGHER RENT

London.—Japan and Russia, not at war against each other but fighting on opposite sides in the world struggle, have signed an agreement extending Japanese fishing privileges in Soviet far eastern waters, it was announced.

A Moscow broadcast recorded by the Soviet monitor here said, however, that Japanese fishing companies must pay between four and five per cent. more than during last year. The payments are to be in gold as before.

Under the 1942 agreement which ended last Dec. 31 the Russians had exacted a 20 per cent. increase in rentals over the price paid by the Japanese the previous year.

S. A. Losovsky, vice-commissioner for Soviet foreign affairs, and Naotake Sato, Japanese ambassador to Russia, signed the 1943 protocol in Kulsbyev, the Moscow broadcast said. Renewal of the Japanese-Soviet agreement generally is regarded as

DELIVERIES SLOW

Western Wheat Marketing Quota

Only 62 Per Cent. Filled

Ottawa.—Western wheat marketings continue at a slow rate, with only about 62 per cent. of the crop year's quota of 280,000,000 bushels filled so far, the Dominion bureau of statistics said in a review of the wheat situation. Last year in the same period from the start of the crop year on Aug. 1, 70 per cent. of the quota of 230,000,000 bushels had been delivered.

The bureau said that the late 1942 harvest and the severe weather had contributed in some measure to the slow rate of marketings.

While censorship regulations covering export figures made it impossible to tabulate the complete statistical position, the bureau said it was indicated the carryover at July 31 would be greater than the 424,000,000 bushels at the beginning of the present crop year.

PRISONS CROWDED

Nazis Are Shooting Poles Because

They Cannot Be Guarded

London.—The Germans are shooting prisoners in Polish prisons in wholesale numbers because the prisons have become so full they are having difficulties maintaining security measures, the Polish Telegraph Agency said.

The agency reported that the entire population of the Rowno prison camp in eastern Poland was executed after an attempted break in which two guards were reported to have been killed.

There was a similar incident at the Pinsk camp, the agency said, when a group of armed Poles invaded the prison, killed three of the 12 guards and freed 54 prisoners. Next day the Germans surrounded the prison and shot 30 of the remaining prisoners, the agency added.

No figure was given for the number executed at Rowno.

NEED MORE SHEEP

Ten Million Required To Fill Canadian Wool Quota

Toronto.—Ten million sheep are required in Canada to fill the present Canadian yearly wool quota, George E. O'Brien, general manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association, told the 25th annual convention here.

"The present sheep population is less than 2,000,000," said Mr. O'Brien. "The 10.6 per cent. increase in wool production last year came from an additional 118,000 sheep. The best reserve stock of wool for Canadian war conditions is another 1,000,000 sheep on Canadian farms."

HELD RESPONSIBLE

British Blame Gandhi And His Party For Recent Uprisings

London.—Mohandas K. Gandhi and the Indian Congress party under his leadership were charged by a British white paper with full responsibility for the recent Nationalist uprisings.

The white paper said Gandhi never believed that his non-violence policy could defend India. It said after he proposed to resist Japan with non-violence, the Congress passed a resolution agreeing that Allied troops should be stationed in India as assurance against attack.

The white paper, in effect, is an explanation of the government's reasons for imprisoning Gandhi at Poona. Gandhi recently completed a three-week fast which he began in an attempt to win release.

Problems Discussed By United States-Canadian Agricultural Committee

Ottawa.—First Canadian meeting of the standing United States-Canadian agricultural committee ended after what members said was "a discussion of different programs and problems concerning various food products."

Dr. G. S. H. Barton, deputy minister of agriculture and chairman of the Canadian section, said continuing discussions would be held in accordance with the assignment given the standing committee to keep agriculture and food production in Canada and the United States under study to further such developments as may be desirable.

Five United States agriculture and food authorities met with the Canadian committee.

UNDER RATIONING

Small Arms Ammunition Will Be Supplied To Essential Users

Ottawa.—The prices board announced an order placing small arms ammunition under rationing to ensure adequate supplies for those rated as essential users. In this category are placed persons who depend on hunting for food, trappers, prospectors, members of the R.C.M.P. and some other police forces, and persons guarding property or livestock.

The order made no reference to the individual who goes hunting for pleasure and it was presumed he would not be permitted to buy ammunition. Members of rifle, revolver and gun clubs, under certain circumstances, may buy ammunition.

NEW LOAN SLOGAN

"Back The Attack" Is Suggested As Being Most Appropriate

Toronto.—Slogan of Canada's next Victory Loan probably will be "Back the Attack," R. J. Dunlevy, public relations adviser to the national war finance committee, said.

Addressing a meeting of personnel managers and personnel publications editors, Mr. Dunlevy said the slogan fitted in with the probability that a "second front" would be opened soon.

FLEETS ARE LARGER

London.—Prime Minister Churchill declared that the United Nations "have added substantially larger fleets than they had at the worst moment in the U-boat war and this improvement is continuing." The statement was made in reply to a question in the House of Commons on shipping losses.

Annapolis, Md.—The British Commonwealth of Nations stands as a model of co-operation and unity that the world might study with advantage when searching for a post-war charter of "man's freedom and self-government under the rule of law," Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, said here.

Speaking to a joint session of the general assembly of the State of Maryland, of which one of his ancestors, Sir Robert Eden, was the last of the line of British governors, he said his conferences and discussions with American leaders in Washington are certain to bear fruit in the future. He repeated his earlier warning that "we have yet far to travel before the final triumph over our enemies in the west and in the east."

To the assembled legislators of Maryland, Eden in his broadest address renewed Britain's pledge to accept a full share of the war against Japan, after the defeat of Germany and Italy; besought China not to "mislead us" on Britain's determination to assist in the reopening of the Burma road supply line and made it plain "that we have no secret engagements with any country, nor do we seek as a result of this conflict to extend our boundaries or increase our possessions."

It was Eden's first public speech since his arrival in the United States nearly two weeks ago for exploratory discussions on military and political questions with President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and other American leaders.

It was an historic occasion for the tall, immaculately dressed foreign secretary because, as he told the general assembly, he has been "steeped in the atmosphere of Maryland" since early childhood. Another of his ancestors, Lord Baltimore, was responsible for the enactment of a law in 1649 by which freedom of religion was guaranteed in Maryland, leading to the early influx of settlers in what was then a British colony along the Atlantic coast.

Ottawa.—Planning of a reserve of public works projects to provide for post-war employment was discussed before the House of Commons committee on reconstruction and re-establishment by K. M. Cameron, chief engineer of the department of public works.

"What is needed is a national development program which will make the best use of our existing assets, and restore or improve those facilities which we are over-working under the strain of war," Mr. Cameron said. "We need programs which help to open up opportunities for productive investment as well as provide social benefits themselves."

The post-war task must differ widely from projects of the depression years, he said. The program of the '30s, lacking co-ordination and planning, and continuity; was restricted in the type of project to dirt-moving jobs; and provided employment only for the manual and unskilled type of labor, he said.

"A construction project to be of real value demands complete preparation in its technical, legal and financial details."

A successful construction program must enlist the technical aid of architects, conservationists, engineers and town and community planners, he said.

He cited four Dominion-wide projects that could provide post-war employment:

1. Communication and transportation; the extension of highways, roads, navigable waterways, telephone, telegraph and radio.
2. Conservation and development of natural resources.
3. Urban and rural improvements like slum clearance, building of community centres and schools, and rural electrification.
4. Tourist facilities.

London.—British men and women whose studies are interrupted by the war have been promised government assistance to permit them to obtain further education after their demobilization.

Direct Hits on Lille Steel and Locomotive Works, Scored by U. S. Fortresses During a Daylight Raid

The Nazi-run Fives-Lille Steel and Locomotive works, which produced 100 to 150 main-line railway engines yearly in addition to other valuable war material for Germany, was the target for a U. S. Flying Fortress daylight attack, November 8, 1942. The Fortresses, escorted by Spitfires, scored direct hits on the works and marshalling yards. Strong fighter opposition was encountered; a number of enemy planes were destroyed. Only one Fortress failed to return.

"Mosquito" One of the R.A.F.'S. Newest Reconnaissance Bombers

The "Mosquito" reconnaissance Bomber has gone into service with the British R. A. F. She is the first operational type to be developed by the de Havilland Design Office Staff since the war of 1914-18. She is equipped with 2 Rolls-Royce engines and is of simple wooden construction which lends itself to widely dispersed manufacture. The Mosquito's dimensions are: Span 54 ft. 2 ins., Height (over propeller tip, one blade vertically upwards, tail wheel on the ground) 15 ft. 3 ins., Length 40 ft. 9½ ins. Both undercarriage and tail wheel units are retractable and the de Havilland 3-bladed Hydromatic type propeller is fitted. Her offensive armament may consist of four 20 mm. cannon and four .303 Machine Guns. Her name implies a deadly sting in the tail.

The New British Spitfire---It Can Engage and Defeat Strong Formations of Enemy Fighters

The new and improved Spitfire is a valuable addition to Britain's interceptor fighter force. Already it has scored notable successes against Germany's best fighter, the Focke-Wulf 190. Fitted with a Merlin LXI engine, it has an increased overall length, and its other main differences from earlier versions are a four-bladed propeller, two radiators under the wings and a slight alteration in the wing-tapering.

Gorgeous Butterflies

Army Officer Has Seen Them Near Camp in Siam

"Often yard-square patches of quivering beauty" is the description of butterfly assemblies seen in Siam, as he prefers to call Thailand, by Lieut. Col. C. H. Stockley, who writes about it in the Field, of London:

"As the sun grows hot gorgeous butterflies collect on the damp sand of the stream beside camp. One boiling spring close to camp was a wonderful sight about 10 o'clock in the morning, the warm, wet mud attracting clouds of lovely butterflies, each group keeping themselves to themselves; swallowtails in one, white in another, little blues several yards from either." 2508

To Aid Malta People

Some of Queen's Canadian Fund Used To Purchase Supplies

The Lord Mayor's Fund is to spend $45,000 on clothing for Malta. This sum will in part be drawn from gifts from the Queen's Canadian Fund.

It was recently reported to the Lord Mayor's Fund through the Colonial Office that there was the greatest need for clothing of all kinds in the George Cross Island—particularly for footwear. There was no use sending money for the purpose, as the stores have hardly any goods to sell.

Accordingly, the Lord Mayor's Fund has arranged with the Colonial Office for shipping space to the maximum allowed. This will permit the dispatch of $45,000 worth of clothes and footwear. It will be on its way almost at once.

Owing to the urgency of the appeal, stocks of clothing already on hand were raided. Such stocks were largely in the hands of the Women's Voluntary Services, who distribute them on behalf of the Lord Mayor's Fund and the Queen's Canadian Fund.

Because of the Malta requirements and because of large allocations of clothing recently made to air raid victims, these stocks have become depleted. A large grant was necessary to bring them up to the required levels, and so large a sum as $225,000 was voted.

This, too, comes in part from the Queen's Fund gift, while the Queen's Fund's recent subscriptions to the Lord Mayor's Fund will be used also to help defray grants totalling $17,000 to the mayors of three London boroughs, St. Pancras, Edmonton and Camberwell, where the effects of the blitz are still gravely felt.

Mechanized Vehicles

Canada's Has Supplied Enough To Form Close Convoy 1,000 Miles Long

Canadians should take special pride in the fact that all the universal carriers used by the British Eighth Army in its advance from Egypt to Tunisia were of Canadian production and that the great armada accompanying the landings in North Africa carried about 40,000 Canadian mechanized vehicles. What this country has done to furnish Allied fighting forces with the mechanized vehicles that are so essential is proved by the statement that enough of them have left this country since the start of the war to form a close convoy 1,000 miles long. Just as many more of them will be sent overseas if they are needed. Brockville Recorder and Times.

Salvage Light Bulbs

Brass, Zinc, And Fine Wire Needed In War Effort

The life of the average electric light bulb is from 700 to 1,000 hours. This means a life of about two or three months. In every home the family, instead of throwing "dud" bulbs in the waste basket, can salvage them to help along the war effort.

As it is only the bulb end, containing brass and zinc and fine copper wires, which is needed for salvage, the bulbs should be smashed so that no jagged edges remain. The ends should then be put away in a box or bag for the salvage collector.

GARDEN NOTES

Spread Out Planting

Wise gardeners spread their vegetable sowings over two or three weeks. The old habit of putting in the whole garden on one Saturday afternoon was not a good one. Many things were planted too soon. The entire garden going in at once resulted in a feast of fresh garden peas, corn, carrots, beans, then a famine.

A properly planted vegetable garden, with plantings spread from early spring to early summer should provide a steady supply of the fresh-out garden vegetables from the first week in July until weeks after killing frost. This, of course, is a general statement and does not apply to those extra balmy areas of Southern British Columbia and Ontario.

Conditions Are Important

Too often the seed or nursery stock is blamed for poor results when in reality the fault lies entirely in careless planting. The job is simple but experienced gardeners point out that it must be done properly for satisfactory results.

In the first place, these experts insist, the soil and climatic conditions must be favourable. By this they mean that seed should not be sown or plants set out unless the soil is fine, moist—but not muddy—and it must be pressed firmly around the seed or plants to exclude air and ensure a supply of moisture.

They also mean that the weather must be right. It doesn't do to plant tender things like melons, cucumbers and tomatoes before danger of frost is over, and it doesn't do either to wait until summer is at hand before planting hardy things like sweet peas, garden peas, grass and other hardy things. These must make their first growth while the weather is cool and moist. If they don't, root growth will not be sufficient to carry them through the blazing days of summer.

Get A Catalogue

A good Canadian seed catalogue is an indispensable reference book for the amateur. In addition to giving him actual photographs of the flowers and vegetables it furnishes actual planting directions.

These books tell whether certain varieties are suitable to Canada and also give important points such as time of planting, resistance or lack of resistance to frost, height, color, season of blooming, whether scented, and also the suitability of the flower for cutting purposes.

PETER AND JOHN BECOME DISCIPLES OF JESUS

Devotional reading: Romans 10: 6-15.

Explanations and Comments

The Witness of John the Baptist to Jesus the Lamb of God, John 1:19-34. One day in Bethany beyond the Jordan, John the Baptist was visited by priests and Levites who had been sent by the Pharisees at Jerusalem to inquire if he were the Christ. Upon his denial they asked, "Who are thou?" and John then gave his famous answer, "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness. Make straight the way of the Lord." Why then baptize thou?" they persisted, and John then bore his witness to Christ saying: "I baptize in water; in the midst of you standeth one whom ye know not, even he that cometh after me, the latchet of whose shoe I am not worthy to unloose."

On the morrow John pointed out Jesus to his (John's) disciples as "The Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." "The verse brings us to the 53rd chapter of Isaiah, where we see one suffering in the place of sinners; it transports us into the whole realm of Old Testament symbolism, and cannot be understood save in the light of offerings, and expiation, and atonement. It points us forward to the cross, and to the work of the Messiah who tore our sins in his body upon the tree" (Charles R. Erdman).

Andrew Makes Peter Acquainted with Jesus, John 1:40-42. One of the two who followed Jesus was Andrew and the other probably John. Andrew is introduced to us as "Simon Peter's brother"—thence he is known from the beginning of the Gospel record, for Peter was the far more active of the two and later became the dominating figure among the Twelve. When Andrew found Peter he exclaimed, "We have found the Messiah!" Messiah is the Hebrew for Christ, a word which comes from the Greek, both mean The Anointed One. And then Andrew brought Peter to Jesus. This bringing of Peter is thrice recorded in this Gospel: here, and in 6:8 and 12:22.

"Notice, if you would be not only a soul-bringer but also a soul-bringer, that what the plain-minded and successful Andrew said, required no greater genius to utter than the weakest possessors; for it was the shortest yet the clearest possible statement of a fact. 'We have found the Messiah' (Frank W. Gunsaulus).

A Compulsory Duty

People of Britain Appreciate True Meaning of 'Salvage'

Today the word "salvage" has a very special meaning to the people living in Britain. Whereas in Canada salvage means the saving of fats and bones in the kitchen, and turning rubber and steel scrap voluntarily to the salvage authorities, in England it becomes a compulsory duty.

In England it is an offense against the law to throw so much as a bus ticket. Bones, bottles, even the tops of milk bottles must be saved. Tin and metal of all kinds is collected.

The iron railings around the gracious old parks of London and throughout the country have gone to war, and many an old aluminum pot or frying pan is now flying over Germany as part of a bomber or fighter.

Newspapers are reduced to four flimsy pages. The quality of books, calendars and magazines has deteriorated. In England when the neighborhood grocer wraps a loaf in a piece of newspaper, and when the corner tobacconist sells cigarettes loose by the handful, rather than in the package, paper just is not wasted.

The people of Canada should realize that although the salvage situation does not appear on the surface to be an urgent problem at home, the elimination of waste is one way of eliminating Hitler and his gangs in the shortest possible time.

One Foodless Day

Does Not Bother Animals In The New York Zoo

War has brought not only less meat and substitute meats to animals in New York City's zoo, but it has also resulted in a "foodless day" each week.

Dr. Harry F. Nymphus, zoo dietitian, said the beasts adjusted themselves so quickly to "foodless Sundays" that they no longer look for the meat wagon.

Lions, for instance, now get horse meat instead of beef—and three pounds less per day than heretofore. Dr. Nymphus compounded a meat substitute chow consisting of carrots, beets, white bread, cod liver oil and a soup-pan of raw horse meat. The animals thrive on it.

"They worry less, as a matter of fact," said Dr. Nymphus, "about the diminishing amount of red meat from their diets than do some other animals I know."

CHAPTER I

It was the Autumn of 1918, just at dusk and a man known as Smith—just John Smith, was strolling the grounds of the County Asylum at Melbridge, England.

His thoughts were rapid, kaleidoscopic and it bothered him that in speech he could only manage jerky, disjointed phrases. His eyes filled. It hurt not to be able to talk properly. Wispes of memory bothered him. Amnesia clouded mind. His last recollection went back only to the Autumn of 1917 when he had awakened in a German hospital . . . then been transferred to England as an exchange prisoner. Who was he? Where had he come from? The questions hung in space, unanswered.

A guard suddenly spoke out of the fog, pleasantly chided him for being out of such weather.

Smith said, "I'm all right. Coat's very warm. I like to walk . . . like to walk." His accomplishment of speech sent him in the swirling mist with a shade more confidence.

Over in the town of Melbridge, the halfhearted glow of day had settled into darkness. Melbridge's grimy factories had released their tollers for the evening and about now the pub would be alive with discussion of the war. How soon would England beat the Huns? Could the war really be ended in 1918 as some predicted? Endless the questions and answers would go the rounds again, not only in Melbridge but all over England.

Smith, however, wasn't concerned with these queries. Always, his mind was occupied with but one idea . . . to pierce beyond his mental fog, to learn the mystery of his blanked out past.

All at once, a siren screamed through the silence. It soared up and down in wild hurries. Another joined in, then several more. The noise mounted in a crazy delirium of sound. Smith was rooted to the ground with fear. There were sirens bells and whistles. Then he heard voices calling to each other joyously. "The war's over! It's peace! The war's over!"

It didn't fill Smith with elation. Somehow, the news seemed unrelated to him. But suddenly he looked ahead. The wide world was open. In the excitement they'd been left unguarded. Fearfully, he walked toward them. Then, without thinking he broke into a run. Not until he reached Melbridge, seething with celebrating humanity, did he slow down to a walk. Impulsively he stepped into a tobacconist's shop to ask for cigarettes.

Strange, the sharp eye proprietress was taking quite a time about it. Suddenly, a low, muffled voice said: "You're from the Asylum aren't you?"

Nervously, he swung around. A young girl with coppery hair and warm eyes was watching him. She looked what she was, a pretty little actress in a third rate touring company. Yet somehow, she was distinctive.

"Yes. Yes I am. But I'm all right . . . really . . ."

The girl nodded but now her voice was urgent. "Well, she's gone straight to the telephone. She's telling them to come for you. You'd better hurry along with me."

It was queer how quickly things happened after that . . . Smith at the Melbridge Arms pub, having a brandy and soda with this girl, Paula Ridgeway, being introduced to her friends then later hearing her backstage at the theatre as she did her singing turn. There wasn't much to remember after that because he became feverish and chilled at the same time. He recalled Paula bending over him, looking so concerned . . .

It was days later that he came to his senses again, to learn that he'd been quite ill with the flu. Then Paula told him wonderful news. She'd taken quite a fancy to him and wasn't going to let him be sent back to the Asylum. Instead, Sam, the manager of the troupe, was giving him a job travelling with them. Everything would be fine.

In the next day, Smith tried to absorb this miracle along with returning health. It was over. The dark past was gone. No longer would he be a strange, floating bit of driftwood on the stream of life. He was an individual now. He was a person.

—O—
A Beautiful, Exciting, Emotional
Story.

Towards the end of the show that night Paula ran in. "Oh," she beamed, "good boy. I see you're all packed. So am I. Our train leaves at one."

A sudden quail beset him. "Paula . . . you're sure I can be useful . . . that your manager isn't taking me on . . . just because you asked him to?"

She looked at this man who needed her so pitifully. Without warning he had stolen into her heart. He must be saved. He was too good a person to remain as debris of the war.

Bright tears stood in her eyes. "Good gracious Smithy you don't know Sam. He's hard as nails. No, you can take my word for it. He thinks you have something and the whole thing was his idea."

His smile flickered. "I can't tell you what it means Paula . . . to be someone again . . . to be wanted. It's all your doing."

He was sitting there in quiet contentment when she returned at twelve thirty. He started up eagerly. Then the grave expression of her face stopped him. "Nothing . . . wrong, is there?"

She sat down and her voice trembled. "I've got to talk to you Smithy." She steadied herself almost to coyness. "I won't beat about the bush. Sam won't take you now."

A man from the Asylum had come into the bar a while ago and told everyone about Smithy's escape. Sam knew now, he thought it was too risky taking him. "Smithy," she pleaded, "I think he's right." That returning fear in his eyes stabbed right through her. "Perhaps you should go back. You need care. You need doctors that understand your case . . ." Her voice trailed off. She had seen a dog look like that, a dog whose master had unexpectedly struck him.

Slowly, he nodded. He was humble and crushed again. The wide Asylum doors were swinging open and he must accept the decree that condemned him there.

She burst out, "Smithy, you're not angry with me? You don't think I've gone back on you?" His anguished eyes implied her not to torment him more. "Speak to me Smithy," she cried. "You could always speak to me." She clutched his hand but he pulled away and rose shakily to his feet.

In sudden decision she went to the door. Her voice was level. "Wait for me Smithy." A short interval later she returned, her bags in her hands. "Come on Smithy. Get your coat on. We'll take the back stairs."

The pub below was dimly lighted and clouded with smoke. They crept past it stealthily. Smith was dazed, hardly knowing what he was doing or where he was going. But at least he was with Paula. A little later they were seated in a third class compartment of a train bound for the country, just beyond Melbridge. It was almost dawn when they reached Mrs. Deventer's rustic inn at Wickham. Paula had stopped there once with her father a long time ago and remembered the place fondly.

It was simple enough, explaining to the kindly Mrs. Deventer that Smithy was her fiance and that she had brought him here after a long illness, so that he might convalesce. And so it was in the dawn of that lovely morning that they took up their new rural existence. Paula's meager savings would be enough to skim through on for a while. After that? Well, no need to worry now. (To Be Continued)

Willing To Help

People On Pitcairn Island Want To Aid War Effort

The 163 inhabitants of Pitcairn in the South Pacific—the tiny island whose romantic history was dramatically in the novel "Mutiny on the Bounty"—offered to shell 25 bombed-out London children, colonial spokesmen disclosed.

When transportation problems made it impossible, the island then offered to aid the war effort by making walking sticks for wounded British soldiers.

The self-starter first appeared on automobiles in 1911.

An Oriental Fable

Told By China's First Lady It Has Good Moral

Mme. Chiang told an anecdote full of rich Oriental flavor the other day in Washington. About 2,000 years ago, she said, there was a young Buddhist monk who sat cross-legged outside the temple, his hands clasped, chanting day after day, "Amita-Buddha," because he hoped that he would thus acquire grace. At length, the old Father Prior of the temple came up, seated himself beside the monk, and began rubbing a piece of brick against a stone. This, too, went on day after day.

At length, the acolyte could restrain his curiosity no longer, and asked the Prior what he was doing. "I am trying to make a mirror out of this brick," the old man replied. "But," said the monk, "it is impossible to make a mirror out of a brick. Father Prior," "Yes," replied the other, "and it is just as impossible for you to acquire grace by doing nothing except chant 'Amita-Buddha' all day long in and day out."

The moral? There are several possibilities. But in the rich American idiom, it might be this: You can't win a war by sitting on your hands."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

CINNAMON ROLLS

1 cup basic sponge
1 1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons butter (or lard)
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
Scald milk and dissolve sugar and salt in same. Cool. Mix with sponge—add melted butter or lard and flour to make soft dough. Let rise until double in bulk (about 1 1/2 hours). Knead again—turn on to board and roll out 1/4-inch thick. Spread with melted butter, and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut off sections with sharp knife. Place these on end in greased pan and allow to rise till doubled in bulk. Wash tops with egg or milk and bake at 375 degrees F. about 40 minutes. This makes one dozen large sized rolls.

THE RIGHT IDEA

Sensible reminder from Dr. Frank Kingdom to his fellow citizens of the U.S.A.: "It is undifferentiated nonsense to think or talk of indigestion as though we were being generous to anybody. We are sending goods and supplies to our allies because they are fighting our battles." 2509

PERCENTAGE LOWER

Wheat is no longer the king of crops on the western prairies. Recent figures issued by the Department of Agriculture show that the percentage of the cash income of the three Prairie Provinces represented by wheat had dropped in 1942 to 29.9 per cent., from a high in 1928 of 72.1 per cent.

The engine oil coolers and super-charger intercoolers on a Flying Fortress cruising at 35,000 feet do a cooling job equivalent to that of 1,800 home-type refrigerators.

Local Victory Loan Quota to be Well Over $100,000

Jack Walker, Divisional Organizer, Visits Coleman During The Week.

The Journal has it on the good authority of unit organizer H. C. McBurney that Coleman's quota in the forthcoming Victory Loan will be well over $100,000. Quotas in the previous loans were $53,000, $68,000 and $73,000.

Divisional organizer Jack H. Walker, of Lethbridge, was in town this week and talked over plans for the Victory Loan campaign which starts throughout the Dominion on Monday, April 26.

Nothing definite is known as to what publicity will be given the loan prior to its opening. Heretofore a grand concert has been held, last year it being in the Bellevue arena.

Ken Ringland, now a member of the R.C.A.F. and who has been divisional organizer in the Crows' Nest - Pincher Creek constituency in past loans, has been assigned the job of organizing a fairly large number of air schools for the Fourth Victory Loan.

One thing is certain, if Coleman is to reach its "well over $100,000 objective," the campaign will have to be intelligently planned and every wage earner in Coleman and district must support it to the limit of his financial ability.

The Churches

ST. PAUL'S UNITED CHURCH, COLEMAN

Sunday, April 4th.

Minister, J. E. Kirk

10 a.m.—Senior Trail Ranger Class.

11 a.m.—Morning worship. Subject: "Caiphias, One of the Personalities of the Passion" The second in the Sunday Lenten Series.

12.15 p. m.—Sunday School for all classes.

On Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock the mid-week Lenten Service.

A cordial welcome is extended to all.

On Sunday, April 11th, St. Paul's United Church, Coleman, is observing its 37th anniversary. Rev. H. A. Mutchmor, B.A., B.D., of Southminster United Church, Lethbridge, will be the guest preacher at both services on the Sunday.

Sunday evening March 28th Mr. Percy Dickieson gave the sermon address at St. Paul's United Church, on the subject: "The Contribution of Religious Education to the Christian Ideal and a Christian Civilization."

This was the fifth in the series, and was not only instructive but challenging. Mr. Dickieson pointed out from New Testament Scripture very concisely what he considered Christian education to be. He then revealed something of the influence of Christian education on the services of a few of the world's statesmen and leaders including Lincoln, Wilberforce, Fanny Crosby and Helen Keller, and then he sketched the life of Dr. Washington Carver, who rose from the status of slave boy to one of the world's great Christian scientists. In concluding he emphasized the need and value of more thought and study being given to Christian education among both adults and children, because of its necessity in founding a democratic and righteous way of life.

ST. ALBAN'S CHURCH

BLAIRMORE MAN KILLED BY CAR

On Saturday evening at 9 o'clock Marc Pinel, 63, was hit by a car allegedly driven by James Jillain, of Blairmore, at the western end of Blairmore. The injured man was taken to Blairmore hospital where he died the following day from multiple injuries. An inquest has been held enquiring into the accident.

Wm. Irvine Speaks

produced in goods last year. This figured out to $4,000 per Canadian family. Following the war, with Canada's soldiers again engaged in peace time industry, the country's production should exceed nine billions. The speaker did not promise every Canadian family $4,000 per year, but if the C.C.F. were placed in power in Canada and the economic setup based on C.C.F. principles, it could be a possibility for each family to earn that amount.

Speaking on the subject "A minimum of well being for each Canadian family," he listed the following necessities: 1, sufficient food; 2, clothing; 3, comfortable homes; 4, free medicine, employment, education.

Speaking on education in Russia, following the great war 83 per cent of the Russian people were illiterate; today 86 per cent are educated. Russia possessed ten million technicians when war broke out against Germany, hence the secret of her mighty power against Hitler. Another factor in her present day showing was the fact that Russia belonged to the Russians.

Following his address he asked members of the audience to take out a $1 membership in the C.C.F. Several did this and it is expected that a local group will be started here in the near future.

Rev. W. Irwin gave a spirited address on the formation of a C.C.F. group in each community in this constituency, for as he put it, "Mackenzie King is bringing into the house at the present time legislation which appears very much like election bait and it would be no surprise if a federal election was sprung on the people at any moment."
